

Covid Response

Regardless of your stand on being vaxxed or unvaxxed, please put emotions aside and take a deep breath. What matters most is to be educated on the background and the ongoing intellectual tug of war between Fauci and the hundreds of other experts about covid vaccines and their implications. Over eighteen months of following this virus, researching and reading hundreds of articles and studies, leads me to be a little biased. The constant blaring of MSM blather repeated by reporters and fact-checkers who couldn't tell you anything significantly intelligent about covid wears thin. It's time for everyone to take the tinfoil hats off and widen the debate of what is really at stake besides our health and future.

The covid virus presents with many misunderstood and unknown facets that are being resolved on an ongoing basis. The primary reason is that this is a genetically modified, weaponized virus. It is not following the normally expected virus replication processes in the body. The ADE, cytokine storm, and other issues are baffling, especially when normal responses are being purposely canceled out by this lab-modified virus. The resulting "cytokine (and/or Bradykinin response theory) storm" explodes affecting the lung alveoli and bronchial system in ways not seen before. Patients were turning blue as it prevents oxygen from getting into the bloodstream. The reaction was to put patients on a ventilator, which in theory might work usually work. However, this only makes matters worse by trying to force oxygen into the lungs.

We need to put aside the petty arguments of media hype, fear, and censorship that's been perpetuated on mainstream society jeopardizing rational and constructive discussion. The question I keep asking myself – "Why have we not convened a world symposium and get all the experts involved?" They all believe in vaccines, maybe not this particular one at this time due to the many unknowns. Fauci has sided with big pharma as he always has since he oversaw the adoption of HIV protocols and the introduction of AZT for HIV in the '80s. Many disputed this HIV approach and their thesis then, and still do. One of the most vocal was Kasey Mullis (RT-PCR inventor) and his global group of over 500 affiliated colleagues that have continually called for a convention of minds and open discourse on the NIH thesis about HIV. Fauci and the NIH have not allowed this, and have pushed the same thesis since then, regardless of the many credible papers and studies published showing why the NIH line in the sand about HIV may be wrong and needs revisiting.

Why is this important to know? Fauci and the NIH have drawn a line in the sand about covid and is following the same pattern of refusing a global discourse on covid, vaccines, allowing repurposed drugs for early treatment at first symptoms, and much more. He has dismissed the credible opinions, studies, and peer-reviewed papers of world-class virologists, immunologists, and other highly educated people smarter than him and his allies in big pharma. Even Robert Malone, the inventor of the mRNA process used in the jabs has been very vocally opposed to using it on humans and has been discredited. Dr. Christian Perronne, who was the Fauci/NIH equivalent for France since 1994 for vaccines, was fired and discredited for speaking out against the mandates, lockdowns, and passports Macron has implemented for his public comment: "The [French] covid policy is completely stupid and unethical."

Dr. Robert McCullough of Baylor Hospital Dallas, internist, cardiologist, epidemiologist, and Professor at Texas A&M Medical School, is one of the world's most pre-eminent cardiologists. He has published forty peer-reviewed publications on covid infection alone and hundreds of other papers in his career. He calls covid a bioweapon of mass destruction. This peer-reviewed paper published in Jan 2021 along with several dozen top doctors called for immediate use of repurposed drugs and early intervention that fell on deaf ears at CDC/NIH/FDA. <https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC7410805/>

A subsequent paper in May 2021 ("Urgent questions on vaccine safety that demand answers..") along with 56 other global doctors, posed significant questions outlining the risks, adverse reactions and called for a global symposium on covid, urging for a halt to the jabs until more is known regarding their questions. A quote from the papers' summary follows: <https://is.gd/UmkpIH>

"In the context of these concerns, we propose opening an urgent pluralistic, critical, and scientifically based dialogue on SARS-CoV-2 vaccination among scientists, medical doctors, international health agencies, regulatory authorities, governments, and vaccine developers. This is the only way to bridge the current gap between scientific evidence and public health policy regarding the SARS-CoV-2 vaccines. We are convinced that humanity deserves a deeper understanding of the risks than what is currently touted as the official position. An open scientific dialogue is urgent and indispensable to avoid erosion of public confidence in science and public health and to ensure that the WHO and national health authorities protect the interests of humanity during the current pandemic. Returning public health policy to evidence-based medicine, relying on a careful evaluation of the relevant scientific research, is urgent. It is imperative to follow the science."

Fauci has pushed the experimental vaccine over the mounting warning cries and papers from virologists and other experts to not go down this dangerous path. The introduction of this weak "vaccine" in the middle of the outbreak was the absolute wrong approach they claim. They were never given a fair hearing. He has followed the same line in the sand routine now as he has done in the past with big pharma by his side who are the only ones making money out of this. You and I, society in total, are the taxpayers footing the bill and misery for this one-sided approach in failed and unnecessary lockdowns.

The growing consensus among many virologists and epidemiologists is that the jabs should stop now. It is only making things worse. Data now support their claims, as the vaxxed are proven to cause more problems with higher viral loads, and most likely contributing significantly to the over 40,000 variants now cataloged due to weakened antibody responses from the jab. The auto-immune issues are wreaking havoc in people and may only be one factor leading to adverse reactions.

Adverse reactions causes are not fully understood in the complex reactions of the virus and vaccine. Credible theories suggest that prior asymptomatics with an ongoing active antibody response from herd immunity, are receiving the jab either too soon or unnecessarily and may comprise a significant majority of adverse reactions. The singular spike protein in the jab is attacking the asymptomatic active antibodies before a time duration passes in which they naturally go dormant causing adverse reactions and/or autoimmune issues.

They strongly propose that herd immunity be allowed to progress as the natural antibodies produced are much stronger, giving a longer immunity, perhaps even lifelong as in past pandemics. In the normal course of immunity, there are four antibody proteins and the T cells that are "immunized" in a natural response providing lifelong protection. However, there are too many unknowns to know how long this might work against covid as this is a man-made genetically modified virus with life-threatening alterations and effects never seen before. The concern is the spike protein in the jab only creates a weak singular protein antibody and does nothing to boost the other three proteins or the T cell response. This is the basis for CDC/NIH recommending booster jabs as the antibody effectiveness lessens in 6-8 months due to this single weaker antibody and not the full range of immunity.

All of the "true" experts weighing in on this matter agree that the protection of vulnerable groups is of utmost priority. They emphasize early treatment and/or prophylaxis therapy using Ivermectin and other repurposed drugs with proven efficacy in dozens of studies, which the CDC/NIH/FDA are rejecting or not approving. Everyone agrees no children and even adults under 50 should not get the jab. The jab may help the vulnerable but should be tested for active infections or prior covid antibodies before receiving the jab to prevent potential adverse reactions. The effects of long haul covid in those who have recovered are severely impacting their lives and might have been preventable had they been able to receive early treatment at first symptoms.

We should not be sending people home from ER's with early symptoms, to wait till they get too sick, then hospitalized, put on ventilators, and likely sedated. Given a select few FDA covid approved expensive pharma drugs like Remdesivir of limited efficacy, or worse, proven to make respiratory issues worse with more inflammation. By the time you are put on a ventilator, it is almost too late to recover.

Where are our empathy, compassion, and best interests for humanity hiding? Why are we allowing a small group to rule in their favor versus the consensus of a world-class symposium of experts? We have repurposed, inexpensive drugs proven to work by front-line doctors in the trenches saving lives supported by dozens of published peer-reviewed papers. The lifelong bureaucrats who have not treated a patient in years are overruling them. To allow the enforcement of a concoction they like to call a vaccine, having only had a 3-4 month study window to deduce long-term effects of a never before used mRNA gene therapy on humans. To singularly decide these complex issues, leave unanswered questions, and not even consider the ethical implications without a hearing on the world stage? I ask you to put aside the emotions of vaxxed/unvaxxed and look at the big picture.

Take the time to understand the underlying issues, problems, and the many political, medical and societal forces at work. It's been established covid will be with us for a long time and we need to adjust to that reality, like the common cold and flu. All three are in the coronavirus family of viruses, which is an animal reservoir virus, and as such, it is highly unlikely a vaccine will be developed that will prevent or wipe out this virus and its' unique modified ability to mutate. We already know these types of vaccines will not prevent people from becoming infected. We need to immediately address preventative protocols, adverse reactions, and the dreadful long-haul covid effects. There are of course other problems caused by the virus and the unknown long-term effects of mRNA gene therapy modifications in which we are now the lab rats. Let's stop compounding the problem till we fix the current ones.

After all, we know how well the annual CDC/NIH flu vaccine works right?
