Dr. Byram Bridle

Vaccine researcher admits 'big mistake,' says spike protein is dangerous 'toxin'

Qutote from a PhD chemist after seeing the Bridle video:

"I am not surprised at all. This broad organ distribution is the work of the lipid nanoparticle (liposome) delivery system used in the mRNA vaccines. They even put a PEG modification on the lipids to camouflage the particles from the immune system. Normally you want your vaccine targeted to immune cells but this construct does the opposite. This has been known for at least 20 years and this is why liposomal delivery is not used anywhere except now. I am sure this is by design aimed at setting up an autoimmune reaction in key organs. This is a WMD..."
